Always make safety a family affair

Make Safety A Family Affair

A family that practices safety together will be much less likely to suffer the loss and heartache that would be theirs in the event of a serious or fatal accident. I wish to share with you some safety tips for you and your family members:

1. Discuss safety with your family. Note articles on safety and ask family members to read them. If someone has an accident or a near miss discuss how and why it happened and what should be done to prevent a reoccurence.

2. Teach youngsters the safe way of doing things from the beginning. Then they will more likely make safety a habit.

3. Assign chores to children that are within their ability to perform safely. Running farm machinery should be reserved for well prepared, able teenagers, not young children.

4. Encourage family members to note and report hazards. Periodic "hazard hunts" can be fun, instructive and possibly prevent a serious accident or fire.

5. Prepare for emergencies. Develop and practice a home fire escape plan. Make sure everyone knows what to do and, if necessary, how to get help in case of sudden illness, injury and severe weather.

6. Build a library of safety information and have an up-to-date home medical guide with a good first aid section.

7. Encourage family members to attend classes, demonstrations and other educational programs to improve safety knowledge and job skills. Young people could take part in 4-H and FFA Safety programs and family members should enroll in a defensive driving course.

8. Make some places strictly off limits to young children, such as grain bins, chemical storage places, livestock facilities, shops, silos and manure lagoons.

9. When giving a young person a new chore or farm job, train and then supervise until you are satisfied that he or she can perform it safely.

10. Keep firearms and ammunition out of the reach of children.

11. Keep play areas clear and free of hazards.

12. Supervise farm pond areas. Do not let children go near them when covered with a skim of ice. Children do not realize the danger involved if they try walking on the ice.

Before allowing a child to bike on public roads, be sure that he or she knows the rules of the road and can handle the bicycle with no trouble.

14. Teach children what to do and how to get help in an emergency situation such as fire, storm, injury or illness. This could save their life.

Homemakers, if you have a homemaking question or problem, you may call us at 352-8244 or you may write us at P. O. Box 488, Appomattox, Va. 24522. It is always a pleasure to hear from you and to help you.

Have a good week!

South 40: New tobacco market poundage released

By JAMES A. SMITH
Extension Agent

Fire Cured tobacco producers marketed 2.3 million pounds of tobacco in December, which averaged $134.47. This is a 2% reduction in sales from 1979, but a price increase of $22.13.

The Lynchburg Market sold 26,183 pounds more than they did in 1979 and averaged $141.85, highest in the belt.

A recent report prepared by the Virginia Agricultural Credit Committee indicates that the total debt outstanding on Virginia farms on January 1, 1979, totaled $1.4 billion-an all-time high that is seven times the level of 1960 and nearly three times the 1970 figure.

In view of the trend towards more debt or capital use some consideration must be given to the debt limits of a farm business. Debt can get out of hand for an individual, a family or a business. For a business, there must be assurance that sufficient cash is generated to meet the commitments.

A study of 41 Virginia Grade A dairy farms in 1979 indicates that after allowing for family living expenses the debt repayment capacity as a percent of milk sales is about 32%.

A similar study of 28 beef cow-calf farms after allowing for family living expenses, the debt repayment capacity as a percent of livestock sales is 18%. For the top ⅓ high producers, this figure rose to 36%.
